ABOUT THIS CLASS
The Construction Team focuses primarily on a team leader’s approach to construction leadership.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND
This program is for those who supervise others. This includes crew leaders, foremen, project supervisors, office managers, and construction executives. This leadership course, like the Construction Leader and Construction Foreman programs, covers new material with an emphasis on the team.

TOPICS COVERED
1. Team Builder – Lessons on leadership often forget to address the need for leaders to build their teams. The initial segment in this series investigates how leaders can tap the unique talents of their people to build better teams. Participants will finish this segment knowing how to be a Team Builder.

2. Team Leader’s Playbook – Leaders need a set of usable skills to get the most from their teams. This segment discusses a number of these skills including problem solving, team decision making, working through conflicts, critical thinking, and communication. All topics are viewed through the lens of the Team Leader.

3. Train and Mentor – Leaders need to train team members and be mentors. Team members need mentors to grow in their careers. Coaching is a part of the mix. Train and Mentor discusses how all these elements of the team relationship need to work together for a winning team.

4. Your Winning Team – Team Leaders never stop learning and improving. The final segment in this series adds several tips on how to continuously improve as a Team Leader. Participants will wrap up their journey in becoming a better team leader by learning valuable lessons in how to get the most from their team, now and in the future.
